

September 2008 £6.95

RETAIL JEWELLER

The leading watch & jewellery magazine

IJJL
2008

our guide to the best new collections and brands on show

Winter WINNERS

Jewels to accessorise
every look this season
in our exclusive
fashion shoot

Best of British

UK Jewellery
designer of the year Alex Monroe

IJJL: THE LOOK BOOK

Latham & Neve

Laura Hayward

Linda Macdonald

Marie Walsh

Marco Bicego

Martyn Pugh

are larger but also very feminine. The collection's new ways with colour also offers a fresh approach for Kokkine.

STAND K625

LATHAM & NEVE

Another classic collection from Latham & Neve, Gyra is handmade in silver, offering a series of soft silvery textures in asymmetrical swirls. The collection is built around the double-looped infinity bangle, and this motif is extended to a ring, earrings and a pendant. The smooth surface and off-centre design are carried through the rest of the range. Wholesale prices start from £22.

STAND K605

LAURA HAYWARD

Eponymous brand Laura Hayward Jewellery (LHJ) makes its trade show debut at the IJJL British Design Pavilion after being selected by a panel of industry judges.

Established in 2006, the brand is building on the success of its handmade collections with yellow gold and a spectrum of gemstones. It will launch three new collections for spring/summer 2009 and a range of colourways for autumn/winter 2008.

LHJ's signature lies in the inspiration Hayward takes from Ancient Greek gold jewellery and Late Roman gemstone jewellery, which is then updated with contemporary detailing.

Her latest collections continue along this theme with reference to mythology and ancient deities. The range includes necklaces, bracelets and earrings and introduces quartz, labradorite and klabite for autumn/winter 2008.

STAND N643

LINDA MACDONALD

This autumn sees many new collections from Linda Macdonald Jewellery, inspired by the delicate Scribbles collection.

The new designs continue to bring natural elements together in silver, highlighted with a touch of gold. All the new designs have many mix and match combinations, supplied with gift packaging and care cards.

STAND L655

MARCO BICEGO

Finalist in Jewellery Brand of the Year at the UK Jewellery Awards 2008 and last year's winner of Jewellery Designer of the Year, luxury Italian gold brand Marco Bicego is presenting the Indian-inspired Jaipur collection at IJJL. Jaipur features coloured gemstones including amethyst, citrine, yellow quartz, topaz and tourmaline, set in 18ct textured gold and available in Bicego's trademark different lengths for layered styling.

STAND E500

MARIE WALSH

The Ocean collection by Marie Walsh is one of five ranges being launched by her at IJJL.

Heavily inspired by ancient Persian jewellery, Ocean consists of 22ct gold and early used gemstones such as turquoise, rubies and lapis lazuli. Each collection includes a ring, earrings, bracelet, pendant and necklace, which are all handmade in her Brighton workshop.

STAND N635

MARTYN PUGH

Award-winning designer Martyn Pugh is showcasing the largest range of contemporary silverware made in the UK, as well as the ART jewellery collection, which comes in palladium, platinum, gold and diamonds.

Pugh's latest piece in silver and English crystal is the Recline Jug (pictured) with an amphora-shaped body, curving handle and full lip.

STAND J625